

OILS! OILS!

For all Kinds of Machinery.

Black Lubricating,
Golden Machine,
Fine Engine,
Lard.

For Sale at Wholesale and Retail by

OWEN & MOORE.

DRUGS! DRUGS!
S. B. STEWART,

29 Franklin Street,

(Stand formerly occupied by McCauley & Co.)

Has on hand a complete stock of

Drugs, Medicines and Chemicals, Patent
Medicines, Shoulder Braces, Trusses,
Sponges, Brushes, Chamois Skins,
Perfumery, Fine Soaps, &c.

Special attention will be given to the Compounding of Medicines, and a careful and competent Prescriptionist will be in attendance at
all hours.
March 18, 1882-1f

GRANGE

Warehouse Association,

CLARKSVILLE, TENN.,

Commission Merchants

For the Inspection and Sale of

LEAF TOBACCO.

T. HERNDON Supt. and Salesman.

W. H. TURNLEY, Soliciting Agent.

Cash advanced on Tobacco in store, or in the hands of responsible farmers and dealers. All Tobacco insured while in store at the expense of owner, except where there is no advance, and then without written orders not to insure.

DIRECTORS.

W. F. TAYLOR, T. H. CO. KY. Pres.
J. A. HARRIS, Montgomery Co., Tenn. Sec'y.
J. S. FLOWERS, Logan Co., KY.
J. W. JENNINGS, Scott Co., KY.
J. F. NORTHINGTON, Montgomery Co., Tenn.
J. D. CLARK, Stewart Co., Tenn.

Blue Front Shoe Store.

They make to measure and all kinds of Repairing. The best Material used and skilled workmen employed.

AT COST

To Make Room for New Goods.
A Nice Line of Men's Stiff Hats,
Boys' and Men's Straw Hats,

Men's Low Shoes,
Youths' High Button and Low Shoes,
Ladies' Misses and Children's New Hats,
Ties, Cloth Shoes, Kid Shoes & Slippers.

Call and examine. Goods on our BARGAIN COUNTER. We will positively sell the Goods at Cost or Less.

JUST RECEIVED!

25 Dozen of the celebrated "Rambler," the Patent Shirt that never tears down the back. The best thing on the market for One Dollar.

Respectfully,

BOWLING & WILLSON,

17 FRANKLIN STREET.

Sewanee Planing Mill

G. B. WILSON & CO.,

Manufacturers of

SASH, DOORS, BLINDS,

And Dealers in

Builders' Material of Every Description.

PRICES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

Cor. Spring and Commerce Sts., - - Clarksville, Tenn.
Jan. 1, 1880-1f.

Magistrates' Plans for Sale at this office.

OILS! OILS! V. L. WILLIAMS,

THE SHOEMAN,

Is now offering great

BARGAINS

in Children's, Misses' and Ladies' Slippers, Summer Hats, etc. His stock is now complete in all its appointments. When you visit Clarksville call on him and buy Good Goods at Low Down Prices. Shoes and Boots made to order.
Repairing neatly done on short notice.

V. L. Williams,

25 Franklin St., Clarksville.

C. L. LOCKERT.

J. B. REYNOLDS.

DRUGS! DRUGS!
S. B. STEWART,

29 Franklin Street,

(Stand formerly occupied by McCauley & Co.)

Has on hand a complete stock of

Drugs, Medicines and Chemicals, Patent
Medicines, Shoulder Braces, Trusses,
Sponges, Brushes, Chamois Skins,
Perfumery, Fine Soaps, &c.

Special attention will be given to the Compounding of Medicines,
and a careful and competent Prescriptionist will be in attendance at
all hours.
March 18, 1882-1f

GRANGE

Warehouse Association,

CLARKSVILLE, TENN.,

Commission Merchants

For the Inspection and Sale of

LEAF TOBACCO.

T. HERNDON Supt. and Salesman.

W. H. TURNLEY, Soliciting Agent.

Cash advanced on Tobacco in store, or in the hands of responsible farmers and dealers. All Tobacco insured while in store at the expense of owner, except where there is no advance, and then without written orders not to insure.

DIRECTORS.

W. F. TAYLOR, T. H. CO. KY. Pres.
J. A. HARRIS, Montgomery Co., Tenn. Sec'y.
J. S. FLOWERS, Logan Co., KY.
J. W. JENNINGS, Scott Co., KY.
J. F. NORTHINGTON, Montgomery Co., Tenn.
J. D. CLARK, Stewart Co., Tenn.

Blue Front Shoe Store.

They make to measure and all kinds of Repairing. The best Material used and skilled workmen employed.

AT COST

To Make Room for New Goods.
A Nice Line of Men's Stiff Hats,
Boys' and Men's Straw Hats,

Men's Low Shoes,
Youths' High Button and Low Shoes,
Ladies' Misses and Children's New Hats,
Ties, Cloth Shoes, Kid Shoes & Slippers.

Call and examine. Goods on our BARGAIN COUNTER. We will positively sell the Goods at Cost or Less.

JUST RECEIVED!

25 Dozen of the celebrated "Rambler," the Patent Shirt
that never tears down the back. The best thing on the market for One Dollar.

Respectfully,

BOWLING & WILLSON,

17 FRANKLIN STREET.

Sewanee Planing Mill

G. B. WILSON & CO.,

Manufacturers of

SASH, DOORS, BLINDS,

And Dealers in

Builders' Material of Every Description.

PRICES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

Cor. Spring and Commerce Sts., - - Clarksville, Tenn.
Jan. 1, 1880-1f.

Magistrates' Plans for Sale at this office.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

The past few weeks have been a little more eventful than the dull season of midsummer. Already the weather is beginning to break, and several pleasantly cool spells have occurred. It is generally said that the next winter will be an unusually severe one. The mortality caused by the heat of this summer has been frightful. In some parts of the city, and especially in the lower regions, over a hundred children succumbed every day. For several days the deaths averaged two hundred per diem.

Questions of politics, as the fall months approach, are agitated in New York as in Tennessee. State politics are in something of a muddle, however. There are not less than seven or eight available candidates for Governor on the Republican side, and almost that number of Democrats who yearn for the honor. None of the candidates are much ahead of the others. Tilden is the only very prominent man spoken of on either side. New York was in an excited and wretched state over the Great Steal—the River and Harbor bill. There is much desire for a new party, as both the old ones have compassed all the infamy in their power. The Anti-monopoly League is developing a stronger front, and have concluded a treaty with John Kelly.

After one of the longest and most stubbornly fought battles on record, the striking freight-handlers on the piers of the Erie, Pennsylvania, N. Y. Central, and other roads, have at last been virtually beaten. Many of the men have returned to work at the old rates—17 cents per hour, many have found other and better positions, and many are still unemployed. The strike has cost the roads an enormous sum, and at one time it looked very much as if capital would succumb to labor, but by dint of numbers, they succeeded in holding out longer than was possible with the starving strikers. It was the most orderly and well-conducted rebellion ever instituted. Only two brawls took place—one when the new men employed by the railroad fired on the strikers; the other towards the close, when some of the strikers, who had been arrested, were released, and a clump of the most stubborn rebels, rendered desperate by starvation, and endeavored to subvert them, but were promptly and artistically knocked out of time and rolled in the mud.

There is much sympathy expressed, chiefly among the Irish, with Arabi Pasha. At a closely packed mass-meeting in Cooper Union a week or so ago, "three cheers for Arabi Pasha" were given with the wildest enthusiasm.

Mrs. Langtry, the English beauty, will soon come to America, under the management of Mr. Abbey. The London Times remarks that America, being a new country, has been rather deluged in ruined castles, etc., but that she may soon have an opportunity of possessing a "ruined Abbey."

The Elevated Railroad still continue their usurpations. A force of police are kept constantly on the watch night and day, at the Battery Park, and when their eyes are turned a gang of laborers are tearing up the park to plant a new station. They are driven away, and the watching begins again. Two horrible accidents have occurred this past week. A woman was run over and crushed, and a brakeman was hurled from the track down into the street and killed. The summer resorts are crowded this season.

S. T. WYATT.

G. N. BYERS,

AGENT.

Represents the Following Reliable Companies.

FOR FIRE INSURANCE.

REPORT JAN. 1, 1882.
FIRE ASSOCIATION, of Phila., Assets, $ 4,219,046
GERMAN-AMERICAN, of N. Y., " 3,452,572
QUEEN, of Liverpool & Lond. Assets in U. S. 1,674,935
NORTH BRITISH and MERCANTILE, of London and Edinburgh, 2,040,823
PHOENIX, of London, 782,617
WESTERN, of Toronto, Canada, 903,950

IN LIFE INSURANCE:

MUTUAL LIFE, of New York. Assets, $94,702,957
Surplus over all liabilities, 12,000,000
Rates 10 per cent. cheaper than any other regular life insurance company.
Office: Franklin street, over Singer Sewing Machine Agency.

SAVE YOUR FRUIT.

It Can be Done, and Here is the Proof.

OPPELKA, LEE CO., ALA., May 18, 1882.
To Whom it May Concern:—Mr. W. B. Callahan, of the firm of and business manager for Messrs. Tatum, Sims & Co., proprietors of the Alta Fruit Preservative, is an honorable, reliable gentleman, man, who would not conduct a fraudulent business. We have known him for years, and he is worthy the confidence of all persons.

P. E. BARNETT, Tax Assessor.
J. K. EDWARDS, Judge Probate.
J. R. WILLIAMSON, Tax Collector.
O. ALDRIDGE, Sheriff.
W. C. ROBINSON, Clerk County Ct.

The following is from the Opelika Observer, May 18, '82: "We have satisfied ourselves beyond all doubt that the Alta Preservative is all that is claimed for it." We will never advise our readers to patronize a worthless article. Its claims to merit are based on nothing but truth. The proprietors are honorable, reliable gentlemen, and there is nothing fraudulent about their business." Let the doubting write to the Observer or any of the above gentlemen.

ONE DOLLAR'S worth of ingredients used in making the Preservative will save for longer than twelve months Ten Bushels of fruit, grapes, green corn, tomatoes, etc., and ten cents' worth of ingredients will permanently prevent sourness, mould and fermentation in Twenty Gallons of syrups, catsups, sauces, preserves, etc. Fruits, etc., are not to be cut, peeled, heated or canned by our method, and everything retains its natural taste and quality, just as grown. We warrant our Preparation to give satisfactory results, and we will refund the purchase money if a failure occurs when used as directed. No trouble whatever to use.

This season we are selling recipes to make our preparation at only One Dollar, where we have no agents on receipt of price we will forward our recipes. Address, mentioning this paper in writing, TATUM, SIMS & CO., Opelika, Ala.

AGENTS WANTED. June 17, 1882-3f.

The True Democracy.

The opinions of these gentlemen upon the 60-6 proposition, with coupons, should be frequently read. In 1877, pending a proposition at 60 cents, with 6 per cent. interest, coupons receivable for taxes, Hon. John F. House, then a member of Congress, said in a letter addressed to Gov. Porter:

"The settlement of the State debt on a basis satisfactory to our creditors is the only way to secure a permanent and honorable peace, and the only way to secure the welfare and honor of our State."

"I was a member of the Tennessee Legislature, and our creditors should make a proposition to settle the debt on the basis of 60 cts. on the dollar, I would not hesitate a moment, between accepting such a proposition, and the ruinous policy of doing nothing, and letting our debt drift on to posterity, growing in volume every day."

Hon. W. J. Whitthorne also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"The basis of adjustment submitted to the people, and the only one that would be a permanent and honorable peace, and the only way to secure the welfare and honor of our State."

"With restored financial credit Tennessee becomes at once an inviting field to labor and enterprise, and soon in renewed energy and increased wealth will rank with the first States of the Union and stand the test of time."

Hon. J. D. C. Atkins also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"I do not hesitate to say, were I a member of the Tennessee Legislature, I should promptly accept, by my vote the proposition of the bondholders to reduce the face of the public debt 40 per cent., to relieve the State of the burden of about ten million dollars. Tennessee can honorably accept, but cannot afford, in my judgment, to make a proposition for the reduction of her public debt."

Senator Harris, the Governor who signed most of the bonds, also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"I understand they propose to accept new bonds for 40 cents on the dollar, in full satisfaction of their debt. This proposition, coming as it does from our creditors, I should not feel at liberty to refuse. In my judgment, she cannot afford to compromise her dignity by making a different proposition or seeming to hedge for other terms, but must, as it seems to me, accept or decline this proposition."

Indeed, to make a different proposition and hold in terror over the heads of our creditors, the threat of repudiation, would be repudiation to the extent of the difference between the propositions. The acceptance of this proposition saves to the taxpayers 40 per cent. of the interest on the bonds, and more than nine millions. We must accept and in good faith pay the 60 per cent. of our present debt, according to its terms, or we must pay or repudiate the whole debt."

"Oppressive as may be the taxation to pay the debt, I am satisfied if we place it on no higher grounds than pecuniary interest we promote those interests much more by paying than by repudiating the debt. But aside from the question of pecuniary interests, for myself I do not hesitate to say that I would much rather give up every dollar of property I own, and see the State of Tennessee starved, than see the State of Tennessee starved by the payment of the debt."

"I therefore earnestly hope the Legislature will promptly accept the proposed terms of adjustment."

In what respect has it become less necessary to settle? Is not the more incumbent to maintain a settlement made? Is it not nullification and repudiation to readjust it? Clearly.

A Ride on the Back of a Catfish.

In the early days of Rome, about forty years ago, a poor widow, a Mrs. Parks, occupied a rude habitation on the banks of the river, constructed of rough poles, on the site where Dr. Gregory's residence now stands. This poor woman had two children, a stout, robust girl about eighteen years of age, Martha by name; the other was a boy seven. One day, as the spring near the house, on the banks of the river, was being washed; her brother was with her, and, riding at the spring, which is only a few feet from the river, she noticed a cool branch of the spring in water nearly deep enough to float the fish. A bait was fastened to a tree on the bank, and the line was seized a paddle, and quick as thought dealt the monster fish a blow on the head, which stunned it. The little boy, George, jumped into the stream and seized the fish, but in his excitement to win the prize he rushed both hands into the gills of the fish, and he clung on them with a vice-like grip, and the fish while floundering in the water, struck water deep enough to support him and with head to the river with a mighty effort shot into the stream with the speed of an arrow, the boy on his back. A moment of terrible anguish and suspense to the poor sister, who was a helpless observer of what was passing, and the catfish landed high and dry on an island some sixty or seventy feet distant from the bank with the boy in a fainting, frightened and half-drowned condition. The cries of the sister soon brought men upon the scene, who took the boy and laid him on a blanket, and a few moments later the fish was landed and the boy was on the bank of the river. The fish weighed sixty-five pounds.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor, which he had contracted, by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst, and he has been able to keep his nerves steady, and he has remained a sober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups. I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. Official, Chicago, Ill.—Times.

Settled Beyond a Doubt.

No one questions the fact that more cases of whites, suppressed and irregular menstruation and uterine obstructions, and every kind, are being daily cured by Dr. J. Bradford's Female Regulator, than by all other remedies combined. Thousands of certificates from women everywhere pour in upon the proprietor. The attention of prominent medical men is aroused in behalf of this wonderful compound, and the most successful practitioners use it. If women suffer hereafter it will be their own fault. All druggists keep it.

Buy your children's school shoes of Bowling & Willson.

"Mother, what is an angel?" "An angel, Well, an angel is a being that flies."

"But mother, why does papa call my governess an angel?" "Well," exclaimed the mother, after a moment's pause, "she's going to fly immediately."

The True Democracy.

The opinions of these gentlemen upon the 60-6 proposition, with coupons, should be frequently read. In 1877, pending a proposition at 60 cents, with 6 per cent. interest, coupons receivable for taxes, Hon. John F. House, then a member of Congress, said in a letter addressed to Gov. Porter:

"The settlement of the State debt on a basis satisfactory to our creditors is the only way to secure a permanent and honorable peace, and the only way to secure the welfare and honor of our State."

"I was a member of the Tennessee Legislature, and our creditors should make a proposition to settle the debt on the basis of 60 cts. on the dollar, I would not hesitate a moment, between accepting such a proposition, and the ruinous policy of doing nothing, and letting our debt drift on to posterity, growing in volume every day."

Hon. W. J. Whitthorne also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"The basis of adjustment submitted to the people, and the only one that would be a permanent and honorable peace, and the only way to secure the welfare and honor of our State."

"With restored financial credit Tennessee becomes at once an inviting field to labor and enterprise, and soon in renewed energy and increased wealth will rank with the first States of the Union and stand the test of time."

Hon. J. D. C. Atkins also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"I do not hesitate to say, were I a member of the Tennessee Legislature, I should promptly accept, by my vote the proposition of the bondholders to reduce the face of the public debt 40 per cent., to relieve the State of the burden of about ten million dollars. Tennessee can honorably accept, but cannot afford, in my judgment, to make a proposition for the reduction of her public debt."

Senator Harris, the Governor who signed most of the bonds, also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"I understand they propose to accept new bonds for 40 cents on the dollar, in full satisfaction of their debt. This proposition, coming as it does from our creditors, I should not feel at liberty to refuse. In my judgment, she cannot afford to compromise her dignity by making a different proposition or seeming to hedge for other terms, but must, as it seems to me, accept or decline this proposition."

Indeed, to make a different proposition and hold in terror over the heads of our creditors, the threat of repudiation, would be repudiation to the extent of the difference between the propositions. The acceptance of this proposition saves to the taxpayers 40 per cent. of the interest on the bonds, and more than nine millions. We must accept and in good faith pay the 60 per cent. of our present debt, according to its terms, or we must pay or repudiate the whole debt."

"Oppressive as may be the taxation to pay the debt, I am satisfied if we place it on no higher grounds than pecuniary interest we promote those interests much more by paying than by repudiating the debt. But aside from the question of pecuniary interests, for myself I do not hesitate to say that I would much rather give up every dollar of property I own, and see the State of Tennessee starved, than see the State of Tennessee starved by the payment of the debt."

"I therefore earnestly hope the Legislature will promptly accept the proposed terms of adjustment."

In what respect has it become less necessary to settle? Is not the more incumbent to maintain a settlement made? Is it not nullification and repudiation to readjust it? Clearly.

A Ride on the Back of a Catfish.

In the early days of Rome, about forty years ago, a poor widow, a Mrs. Parks, occupied a rude habitation on the banks of the river, constructed of rough poles, on the site where Dr. Gregory's residence now stands. This poor woman had two children, a stout, robust girl about eighteen years of age, Martha by name; the other was a boy seven. One day, as the spring near the house, on the banks of the river, was being washed; her brother was with her, and, riding at the spring, which is only a few feet from the river, she noticed a cool branch of the spring in water nearly deep enough to float the fish. A bait was fastened to a tree on the bank, and the line was seized a paddle, and quick as thought dealt the monster fish a blow on the head, which stunned it. The little boy, George, jumped into the stream and seized the fish, but in his excitement to win the prize he rushed both hands into the gills of the fish, and he clung on them with a vice-like grip, and the fish while floundering in the water, struck water deep enough to support him and with head to the river with a mighty effort shot into the stream with the speed of an arrow, the boy on his back. A moment of terrible anguish and suspense to the poor sister, who was a helpless observer of what was passing, and the catfish landed high and dry on an island some sixty or seventy feet distant from the bank with the boy in a fainting, frightened and half-drowned condition. The cries of the sister soon brought men upon the scene, who took the boy and laid him on a blanket, and a few moments later the fish was landed and the boy was on the bank of the river. The fish weighed sixty-five pounds.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor, which he had contracted, by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst, and he has been able to keep his nerves steady, and he has remained a sober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups. I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. Official, Chicago, Ill.—Times.

Settled Beyond a Doubt.

No one questions the fact that more cases of whites, suppressed and irregular menstruation and uterine obstructions, and every kind, are being daily cured by Dr. J. Bradford's Female Regulator, than by all other remedies combined. Thousands of certificates from women everywhere pour in upon the proprietor. The attention of prominent medical men is aroused in behalf of this wonderful compound, and the most successful practitioners use it. If women suffer hereafter it will be their own fault. All druggists keep it.

Buy your children's school shoes of Bowling & Willson.

"Mother, what is an angel?" "An angel, Well, an angel is a being that flies."

"But mother, why does papa call my governess an angel?" "Well," exclaimed the mother, after a moment's pause, "she's going to fly immediately."

The True Democracy.

The opinions of these gentlemen upon the 60-6 proposition, with coupons, should be frequently read. In 1877, pending a proposition at 60 cents, with 6 per cent. interest, coupons receivable for taxes, Hon. John F. House, then a member of Congress, said in a letter addressed to Gov. Porter:

"The settlement of the State debt on a basis satisfactory to our creditors is the only way to secure a permanent and honorable peace, and the only way to secure the welfare and honor of our State."

"I was a member of the Tennessee Legislature, and our creditors should make a proposition to settle the debt on the basis of 60 cts. on the dollar, I would not hesitate a moment, between accepting such a proposition, and the ruinous policy of doing nothing, and letting our debt drift on to posterity, growing in volume every day."

Hon. W. J. Whitthorne also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"The basis of adjustment submitted to the people, and the only one that would be a permanent and honorable peace, and the only way to secure the welfare and honor of our State."

"With restored financial credit Tennessee becomes at once an inviting field to labor and enterprise, and soon in renewed energy and increased wealth will rank with the first States of the Union and stand the test of time."

Hon. J. D. C. Atkins also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"I do not hesitate to say, were I a member of the Tennessee Legislature, I should promptly accept, by my vote the proposition of the bondholders to reduce the face of the public debt 40 per cent., to relieve the State of the burden of about ten million dollars. Tennessee can honorably accept, but cannot afford, in my judgment, to make a proposition for the reduction of her public debt."

Senator Harris, the Governor who signed most of the bonds, also wrote to Gov. Porter:

"I understand they propose to accept new bonds for 40 cents on the dollar, in full satisfaction of their debt. This proposition, coming as it does from our creditors, I should not feel at liberty to refuse. In my judgment, she cannot afford to compromise her dignity by making a different proposition or seeming to hedge for other terms, but must, as it seems to me, accept or decline this proposition."

Indeed, to make a different proposition and hold in terror over the heads of our creditors, the threat of repudiation, would be repudiation to the extent of the difference between the propositions. The acceptance of this proposition saves to the taxpayers 40 per cent. of the interest on the bonds, and more than nine millions. We must accept and in good faith pay the 60 per cent. of our present debt, according to its terms, or we must pay or repudiate the whole debt."

"Oppressive as may be the taxation to pay the debt, I am satisfied if we place it on no higher grounds than pecuniary interest we promote those interests much more by paying than by repudiating the debt. But aside from the question of pecuniary interests, for myself I do not hesitate to say that I would much rather give up every dollar of property I own, and see the State of Tennessee starved, than see the State of Tennessee starved by the payment of the debt."

"I therefore earnestly hope the Legislature will promptly accept the proposed terms of adjustment."

In what respect has it become less necessary to settle? Is not the more incumbent to maintain a settlement made? Is it not nullification and repudiation to readjust it? Clearly.

A Ride on the Back of a Catfish.

In the early days of Rome, about forty years ago, a poor widow, a Mrs. Parks, occupied a rude habitation on the banks of the river, constructed of rough poles, on the site where Dr. Gregory's residence now stands. This poor woman had two children, a stout, robust girl about eighteen years of age, Martha by name; the other was a boy seven. One day, as the spring near the house, on the banks of the river, was being washed; her brother was with her, and, riding at the spring, which is only a few feet from the river, she noticed a cool branch of the spring in water nearly deep enough to float the fish. A bait was fastened to a tree on the bank, and the line was seized a paddle, and quick as thought dealt the monster fish a blow on the head, which stunned it. The little boy, George, jumped into the stream and seized the fish, but in his excitement to win the prize he rushed both hands into the gills of the fish, and he clung on them with a vice-like grip, and the fish while floundering in the water, struck water deep enough to support him and with head to the river with a mighty effort shot into the stream with the speed of an arrow, the boy on his back. A moment of terrible anguish and suspense to the poor sister, who was a helpless observer of what was passing, and the catfish landed high and dry on an island some sixty or seventy feet distant from the bank with the boy in a fainting, frightened and half-drowned condition. The cries of the sister soon brought men upon the scene, who took the boy and laid him on a blanket, and a few moments later the fish was landed and the boy was on the bank of the river. The fish weighed sixty-five pounds.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor, which he had contracted, by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst, and he has